Process for Children Not Engaging in School

GETTING ADVICE

At this stage, less support is needed. Support for those in need comes in the form of family connections, and self help methods.

GETTING HELP

When things progress a little further we can turn to look at the school. What support are they already providing and what else can they begin to provide us?

GETTING HELP

We can turn to community support as well.

MORE HELP

As the situation becomes more serious, it's time for us to look at additional school support.

CRISIS SUPPORT

This is the most serious stage of support - it is important to keep an eye on the situation here and de-escalate where possible.
